

LEGISLATURE WILL HEAR WHITE TODAY

GOVERNOR TO AGAIN STRESS ECONOMY WISH

State Welfare Department
Plans Are Expected to Be Laid Out

TALKS AT 3:30 P. M.

Many Other Subjects to Come In For Discussion

COLUMBUS, Jan. 21.—Gov. Geo. White of Marietta today was to send down to the Ohio legislature his second message bearing upon departmental matters.

Foremost it was expected in the Governor's message will be his recommendation and plans for the state welfare department. Sources close to Mr. White intimated that the chief executive would recommend and appropriation to carry out a ten years measure.

Other subjects expected to be discussed at length by Mr. White in his second message to the legislature included drivers' license, old age pension, the state insurance fund, agriculture, roads and schools.

Delivery of the Governor's message was to be made at 3:30 o'clock.

Economy was expected to be particularly read by the governor to the solons. He mentioned the dire straits of the state funds in his first message to the legislature shortly after his inauguration and it was believed he would reiterate the necessity of strictest economy during the next year.

LEGION HEADS MEET SUNDAY

National Commander Asks
Chiefs To Consider Compensation Payment.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 21.—The eyes of nearly a million ex-service men were hopefully turned to Indianapolis today following the call issued by Ralph T. O'Neil, National commander of the American Legion for a special meeting of the national executive committee of the Legion here next Sunday, Jan. 25, to consider endorsement of the drive for the immediate cash payment of the soldiers' compensation certificates.

Several such bills are now pending in Congress. The American Legion had not lent its support to these measures up to now. Should the Legion get behind the move to cash the certificates, a great impetus will be given the movement it was believed here.

POLICE STONED BY UNEMPLOYED

BUDAPEST, Jan. 21.—Several persons were injured and a score arrested today when 5,000 unemployed marched from the suburbs to the Budapest civic center shouting "give us jobs! Give us bread!" Police who blocked their path were stoned.

TAXPAYERS RUSH OFFICES

Monday Reported Biggest of Two Day Rush, Many Are Delinquent However.

With Tuesday the last day to pay taxes and secure dog tags, employees of the county treasurer and county auditor's offices were kept busy from opening to closing time Monday and Tuesday, taking care of the "grand rush," which began early Monday. Monday was the biggest day for the treasurer's receipts as $14,725.54 was collected in taxes. Tuesday was not so busy and not over half this amount was collected.

Beginning Wednesday a penalty will be imposed upon all delinquent tax payers of which there are a great number. Special building programs in various townships and highway improvement helped increase the taxes in many districts this year.

Sale of dog license tags was over 700 short after the deadline for securing the tags had passed Tuesday. Only 2,350 tags had been issued Wednesday morning, and last year over 3,000 licenses were registered in Pickaway-co. Monday was also the big day for sale of these tags, as over 400 were issued by clerks in the auditor's office.

Kennedy, a city councilman, managed the governor's campaign last year in Cuyahoga-co.

AGE PENSION WINS FAVOR

Labor Leaders Put Stamp of Approval on Move; Action Inevitable.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—Labor leaders today approved a new old-age pension bill now before the legislature and began a study of the first unemployment insurance measure ever proposed in the state.

A determined fight to pass an old-age pension law was apparent after a Republican and a Democrat introduced new pension bills in both the senate and the house of representatives.

Similar bills introduced by Senator David Lorback (D) of Cincinnati and Representative Martin E. Blum (R) of Cleveland, entitling a dollar-a-day pension to persons 65 years old or over if they do not own property worth more than $3,500, have the approval of both the Ohio State Federation of Labor and the Cleveland Federation of Labor.

Two other old-age pension bills already are before the assembly. A bill of Labor on a bill to sign to insure workmen against financial loss during unemployment has not yet been expressed. Employees would contribute 1-2 per cent of their wages to the fund and employers would pay 2 per cent.

Problems Of Conducting Schools Told To Members of Chamber of Commerce

The Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday had an atmosphere of school days, for the speakers, five members of the school faculty dealt with school subjects.

Prof. J. O. Eagleston, acting as toast master, was the first speaker.

He explained the method of selecting the course of studies, the selection of teachers, etc., and how the community is measured somewhat by the school that it has.

He laid emphasis on the fact that he does not believe the Board of Education should be responsible nor should they pay for the charity that they now pay for. He believes that the distribution of charity, to school children, should be handled under the jurisdiction of other organizations in the city.

He also asked that parents give more cooperation to the truant officers in fulfilling his duties. The truant officer has a hard job, he said, and every day he meets rebuffs in visiting the homes of the delinquent children and it is his duty to see that the children are in school, unless they have a worthwhile excuse.

SUMMER, NIGHT SCHOOL
He was followed by E. L. Daley, supervisor of grade schools in Circleville. Mr. Daley stressed two points, namely that we should have night school and that we should have summer school. With a night school, he stated, we can give the children who have dropped out of school when the age limit permits them to do so, an opportunity to gain more knowledge which is necessary in most instances. With the summer school it affords those who have lacked ability an opportunity to keep up without losing a year in the regular course, and it also gives the student an opportunity to progress faster. He also suggested a garden school that would afford the students to become better acquainted with nature and the outdoor life which is so beneficial to growing youth.

"With better students in school we cannot help but to eventually have a better Circleville," Mr. Daley continued. "To have a better Circleville we must have better citizens, with better citizens we will have more industries, we will be more prosperous have a more beautiful town, have more law-abiding citizens, more happiness, better homes and home life, and more honest people. With good schools we can build character from the pupils and the ultimate end will be better citizens for a community."

GEOPHART NEXT
E. I. Geophart, principal of the high school, was the next speaker and he told of the data and records of the school children who start school and how the larger percent of them fail to finish high school. The school course has changed in many ways since we were in school, he said. The three R's were the fundamental teachings years ago but we would not be satisfied with this curriculum now, he stated. School work is a specialized unit now and there are other specialized units within this unit.

The scope of activities have been greatly enlarged in school work and each year the student finds more activities to pursue and more things to interest them. He asked that the business man set examples for the school children, for he was sure that each and every business-man in Circleville had some student who looked to him as an example to follow.

C. F. Zaenglein then told of the musical activities of the school and how he is making progress in forming a high school band, that now has 62 members. The first rehearsal will be held on next Monday.

The meeting was closed with the talk by Coach Herberholz, who told of the athletic activities of Circleville high.

He said that he was well pleased with the showing of the football team during the past season. "We didn't win every game," he stated, "neither did we lose every game. The boys tried their best but we met teams that had much more experience than our boys, and I feel that we have a foundation for a real team next year. It is the desire of the athletic department to build character in the boys who make up your team, and when they go to other towns they try to represent Circleville as you would want your boy to represent it. We will win when we can, but we will not win to ruin a character."

Coach Herberholz concluded saying that he hoped that a class of Physical Education would eventually be started in high school. With such a class each student in school would have an opportunity to get the exercise and training that he should have and not only those who participate in athletics.

Asking for the support of the Chamber of Commerce and the residents of this city as a whole, Prof. C. F. Zaenglein, supervisor of music in Circleville high school, announced Tuesday evening that plans have been completed for a school band and that the first rehearsal will be held next Monday, Jan. 26, after school. Regular rehearsals will be held every Monday from 4 to 5:30 p. m.

Sixty-two members have already signed up, have their instruments and are ready to go. There are 18 clarinets, 12 trumpets, 10 saxophones, five trombones, five altos, two BB bases, three baritones, five drums and two bass drums. Six drum majors are trying for the post. Fifty-six of the students are boys and six girls.

The band, which is under the personal direction of Mr. Zaenglein, will donate its services to all civic purposes, public or benefit concerts, etc. Two purposes can be reached by this; first, it will give the boys and girls encouragement to play in public; and second, it will be for the good of the community.

The biggest problem, in which Mr. Zaenglein says aid will be needed, is the matter of obtaining uniforms for the band members. There is nothing like uniforms to hold a band together for it is with great pride that members of a band march up and down the streets of a city.

Circleville has been sorely in need of a band for many years and a school band seems to be a solution to the problem. It is a civic organization and should be backed by everyone.

REPORT PUTS AMENDMENT IN EYE OF NATION

Developments Found After Report Is Thorough-Considered

MANY CONCLUSIONS

Congress Wont Do Much
With Recommendation

By George R. Holmes
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Prohibition, attired in the new and confusing patchwork of the Wickersham report, strode to the center of the national stage today with a promise of holding the spotlight for a long time to come.

In the welter of controversy and dispute that has arisen in the wake of the strange report—which presented the curious anomaly of being wet in substance and dry in conclusion—certain developments appeared outstanding and more or less generally admitted. They were:

1. President Hoover has at last taken the plunge and lined up definitely with the dry side of the prohibition controversy, a political development of incalculable importance in relation to 1932.

DEFINITE PLAN
2. There has now been put forward for the first time in ten years a definite plan for overcoming the 18th amendment, around which it will be possible to rally not only the avowed wets but also a great mass of those who, while opposed to outright repeal of the amendment, nevertheless are dissatisfied with existing conditions and ready for a change.

3. The immediate question of prohibition discussion and consideration by the Wickersham report insures the issue being carried into the 1932 campaign, probably as the dominant political issue, and if not settled then it will be carried forward into 1936.

4. A final and supreme effort is to be made to enforce prohibition in the next two years, in order to make a showing that will convince the doubters that it is possible to obtain some degree of adequate enforcement despite the majority opinion of the Wickersham committee that there is no adequate enforcement now, that there never has been, and that probably there never will be. Into this effort, the Hoover administration will throw all its resources, and all the money that Congress will provide.

The present Congress, of course, will do nothing with the Wickersham report, it is overwhelmingly dry, and besides it has only some thirty-odd days of legislation left before it expires by constitutional limitation on March 4.

It is even doubtful if the next 72nd Congress will be able to do much. Unless there is a special session, it will not assemble until next December, which will be on the eve of the 1932 campaign, and Congress rarely plunges into a controversy of such far-reaching proportions at such a time.

As was expected, the report of the commission pleased neither the wets nor the dries, although the latter, after reading the anomalous conclusions, rushed into print with high praise for the findings.

HERALD

New Lexington To Bring Tough Outfit To City

This basketball outfit from New Lexington that plays the Athletic Club here Thursday evening is one of the finest the Club has met all season. Two weeks ago on the New Lexington floor the local team played its best game of basketball to win 24-18 in an overtime period. Every fan from Circleville who saw the contest, and there were a good many of them, said it was the best game the Club had played all season.

Checking their men as soon as they hit the center of the floor, covering Nolan Swackhammer and Walter Harrop to perfection when these two scorers had been going great guns and showing a generally basketball sense, the Club brought home the bacon from this Perry-co metropolis by just a hair's breadth. The game was tight and cleanly played from the start and it is expected the same kind of a ball game will be played here Thursday evening with Chick Pearce as the official.

LAURELVILLE BOY
Swackhammer is well known in this county because his home is in Laurelville and he has played against many teams in this vicinity. He went to Ohio University and set things afire down there last year and the year before as a guard paired with the mighty Chuck Kotera of the Federal Glass team. He alternates at forward and guard with the New Lexington team and is the pivot man in their offense. He was played splendidly by Eve Merriman at New Lexington and this same combination will again team up Thursday evening.

The center of the Company F aggregation is none other than the mammoth Walter Harrop, whose basketball at Muskingum college several years ago, was nearly on a par with the incomparable Bob Taylor. He coaches at Shawnee, near New Lexington, and is one of the toughest big men in the semi-pro game.

At the other forward with Swackhammer is Perk Reichley, a clever home-talent athlete, whose play at New Lexington, both in high school and out, has been followed by many.

GUARDS STRONG
Then come the visiting guards, Freddie Lowe and Carl Bonifield. These two men are powers. Lowe was an all-American high school guard while with Zanesville's Blue Devils and is a leach when told to watch one man. Art Steele outplayed Freddie considerably at New Lexington and is expected the visiting manager will again stick Lowe on the C. A. C. sharpshooter. Bonifield was high point man for the New Lexington team over there from his guard position. He plays an aggressive, steady game of ball and is a favorite with fans wherever he plays.

The Club team has been going good and its victory over Federal Glass last week was about the most sensational seen here this year. The team again won at Corning Tuesday evening by a 34-21 score in a contest that greatly resembled a football game.

Two preliminaries have been booked for Thursday, the first between the Flying Clouds and the Jackson-Twp Soils at 7 p. m. and the second between the Gordon Tires and the Guild A. C. of Columbus.

Chick Pearce, popular Columbus arbiter, will handle the big game.

JOE SEWELL GIVEN GATE

Veteran Cleveland Indian Infielder Drops to Minors; Follows Others.

By Les Conklin
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—One by one the diamond stars of yesterday are passing out of the picture.

Close on the heels of the release of Hank Deberry by Brooklyn to the Oakland club in a deal for a younger catcher, came the news late yesterday that another veteran, Joe Sewell, had been released unconditionally by the Cleveland Indians.

The little Cleveland infielder joins the list of Deberry, Eddie Moore, George Sisler, Jack Quinn and other old timers who have been dropped from the big time circuit since the close of the 1930 season. And since the minor league have accepted the revised universal draft as demanded by the majors—the International and Three-Eye circuits fell in line yesterday—indications are that other veterans will be released. Now that the big league clubs will be able to obtain younger replacements, they can afford to let the old timers go.

Of course there are several major league teams that could use Sewell. He is only thirty two years old, batted .299 last season and was topped in the fielding only by McManus, Bluege and Dykes among the regular American league third basemen.

"Most air accidents result from stunting," Pride goeth before a fall.

When Baer Sent Heeney Through the Ropes

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, waved Max Baer back to his corner after he had rushed Tom Heeney through the ropes at the start of the third round. As Tom got back into the ring he rested on one knee. Until Dempsey counted eight. Timekeeper Donovan had counted two ahead of Dempsey, while Heeney was getting back in the ring and awarded the fight to Baer, much to the surprise and bewilderment of both Dempsey and the crowd. Because of Dempsey's short count, Baer was given the victory on a knockout.

Always remember, the other driver may be a darn fool, also.

MAULER TALKS OF 'COMEBACK'

Dempsey Says He Would Try To Fight Carnera; Always Liked Big Boys.

By James L. Kilgallen
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—"If I ever fought again..."

Jack Dempsey smiled across the room at his wife, Estelle Taylor the screen star, as he said it. "If I ever fought again and I could pick my opponent I'd select Primo Carnera," he declared. "I always liked those big fellows."

Jess Willard and Luis Firpo were big fellows.

Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey, now married six years, and apparently as happy a couple as when wedding bells rang, sat in their suite at a hotel here today and talked at length with the writer about Dempsey's past, his future, the question of whether he will ever fight again and various other matters—including the subject of how to be happy though married.

Once when Jack left the room for a minute, Miss Taylor, with all the enthusiasm as a bride, exclaimed:

"Jack's a grand husband—simply grand."

On a table were two bouquets of flowers that Jack had just given her.

Mrs. Dempsey was asked if there was any truth in a story published recently to the effect that Dempsey was eager to box Max Schmeling for the title but that she had put her foot down on the idea of him ever fighting again.

"Ridiculous," she asserted. "I would never try to tell Jack what to do. I never have tried to tell him his business. He is able to think for himself."

JACKSON LOSES TO HIGH GIRLS

Circleville high school defeated Jackson-Twp girls' varsity at Jackson Tuesday evening by a score of 30-4. Every girl on the local squad was given a few minutes in the game.

C. A. C. SUBS BEAT CORNING

Come Out of Football-Basketball Game Unscathed; Steele, Gordon Out.

In a basketball game that was more like a football game, the C. A. C., with a patched lineup, defeated the Corning, O., Independents Tuesday evening at Corning, 34-21. The team traveled 65 miles over a glare of ice for this contest and when they reached their destination were just about all in. But that wasn't the worst of it. When asked one member of the team said the roads weren't so bad nor so dangerous but members of the team were nearly annihilated during the game.

The Club took an 18-13 lead at the half and held this margin through the game.

The Club lineup was juggled greatly with neither Art Steele or Judy Gordon, Club forwards, taking part at all. Parks and Fickens started at forward, Wallace at center, and Courtright and Merriman at guards. Cum and Dick Robinson also took part in the melee.

HAVANA.—A military court of investigation has indicted 12 professors and teachers of the National University and the Havana high school on charges of conspiring against the government. They denied the charges and have been released on bail pending further investigation.

OHIO U. WHIPS MIAMI QUINTET

ATHENS, O., Jan. 21.—The Ohio University Bobcats eliminated Miami from the Buckeye Conference basketball race and advanced another step toward the top rungs of the ladder by nosing out the Big Red team from Oxford by a score of 21 to 19 in a game here last night.

After trailing, 18 to 6, at the end of the first half, Ohio came back strong in the second period and allowed Miami only one point. The game was one of the most thrilling and sensational ever seen on a local court.

OCEAN SERVICE IS AGAIN UP

DETROIT.—Predictions of regular transatlantic airplane passenger service, with anchored seadromes providing a chain of refueling stations in midocean, were sounded again today as the national society of automotive opened its five-day annual convention.

The conclave is being held in conjunction with Detroit's two-million-dollar, automobile exposition, which occupies three and one half acres of floor space at Convention Hall here.

Officials of the mammoth display, which opened Saturday night, were enthusiastic today over the great interest of what they termed a "buying crowd." Attendance and sales records of previous years have been shattered.

Not only aircraft and automobile engineering, but oil and rubber developments drew the attention of the automotive engineers. R. A. Armstrong, nationally known automobile and aeronautical engineer, predicted the transatlantic "air-liners." He cited the engineering problems in building and maintaining a series of floating islands 350 miles apart across the Atlantic.

The ideal route, he said, would provide for eight such seadromes. The first would be anchored midway between Halifax, N. S., and Bermuda, 350 miles offshore. The European terminal would be at Plymouth, Eng., or Brest, France.

BURGLAR ALARM CAUSE OF PANIC

WHEELING, W. Va.,—An automobile in the Dollar Savings and Trust Company here, this city's largest financial institution, which was responsible for throwing the downtown district into a near panic late Sunday, was being repaired today.

A defect in the workings of the alarm caused it to sound just as hundreds of persons were leaving the theaters. Police from all parts of the business district and a special emergency squad from headquarters rushed to the scene. Traffic in the vicinity of the bank was blocked for nearly an hour.

ACID after meals

GET RID of your dread of pain after eating. Eat without fear of "indigestion," sour stomach, disagreeable gas or headaches.

When your food ferments, "disagrees," lies like a lump in your stomach, it's a sign of too much acid. You need not resort to crude methods—take instead an anti-acid that will correct the condition. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A spoonful of this pleasant-tasting, soothing fluid neutralizes many times its volume in acid. It restores the proper alkaline balance to an acid-soaked stomach and bowels—assists these organs to function as they should.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is what you need when a bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, nausea or biliousness indicates an over-acid condition. Take a spoonful today and for several days and see how it sweetens the system. You won't be nearly so liable to colds or sickness. All drugstores—in 25c and 50c bottles.

Genuine Milk of Magnesia is always a liquid—never a tablet. Look for the name Phillips on the bottle.

LEGAL NEWS FROM THE OFFICE OF STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Mothers of Ex-Service Men Protected

Mothers of the men who have served their country, either as soldiers, sailors, or marines, may now look to the state for financial aid whether they are living in the homes of their sons or not, according to an opinion given by Attorney General Bettman to F. H. Buckingham, prosecuting attorney of Sandusky-co.

Attorney General Bettman Assures White Co-operation.

Difference in political complexion of the various departments of state government should not impair the full functioning of those departments for the benefit of the people of Ohio, in the opinion of Attorney General Gilbert Bettman.

As an evidence of this fact, General Bettman addressed the following note to Governor George White shortly after the inauguration.

"It is my hope that one of the first official messages received by you will be my assurance that no difference of political faith will bar your receiving as Governor of Ohio the complete co-operation of myself and my colleagues in carrying on efficient and economical government for the benefit of all the people of Ohio."

Attorney General Calls City Solicitors in Telephone Fight.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman has issued a call to 50 city solicitors throughout the state to attend a meeting at his office on Wednesday, Jan. 21, at 1:30, for the purpose of determining the next step which the state will take in the matter of Ohio Bell Telephone Company rates.

"I hope that you will attend in person or send a representative," General Bettman's letter said. "It is my belief that the decision of our course in this litigation should be shared with the solicitors of the communities affected."

Banks Must Pay For Surety Bonds.

A bank designated as a depository of school moneys must provide its own bonds to secure the deposits, in the opinion of Attorney General Gilbert Bettman given to the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices. Boards of education may not legally pay the cost of such bonds, General Bettman held.

First Opinion to New Welfare Director

When a person has a legal residence in one county of Ohio and is arrested in another county and detained in jail in the latter county, and while so detained is committed to an institution for the insane, the court costs and incidental expenses are properly chargeable to the county in which this person has a legal settlement, according to the first opinion given by Gilbert Bettman, Attorney General, to John McSweeney, Director of Public Welfare.

Transfer of School Territory Opinion Where territory is transferred by a county board of education from one school district to another, within the county, the division of funds and an indebtedness of the two districts involved should be made by the county board making the transfer, said Attorney General Bettman in an opinion.

No Travelling Expenses for School Superintendent

Opinion: Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, in an opinion recently given, held that where a county board of education enters into a contract with a county superintendent of schools whereby the board agrees to pay a definite sum for his salary, which sum shall include his personal traveling expenses, such board is precluded from granting any further allowance to said superintendent for traveling expenses.

State Victorious in Criminal Case

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, requested by the governor to represent the state in the criminal case of the state versus David A. Breinig, charged with embezzling $8,800 of state funds, won a victory in the court of appeals of the fourth district when that court decided that an indictment may be amended in the course of trial before a jury. "The rights of the accused are not affected," General Bettman explained.

MANY ATTEND WILSON RITES

A large concourse of relatives and friends attended the funeral of William R. Wilson, Yellowbud, at the Spring Bank M. E. church, conducted by Rev. Ruhlmann, pastor of the Evangelical church, Circleville. His daughter, Roma Boltenhouse, was buried last Thursday afternoon. The wife has been bedfast for the past two weeks and was not able to attend the services.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Byers and John Reid, Lancaster; Miss Augusta Wilson, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. John Hook, Williamsport; Helen Wilson and brother, John Dean and family and Mr. Boltenhouse and family of Circleville.

Interment was made in the Spring Bank cemetery by funeral director, C. E. Hill, Williamsport. The pall bearers were William Metzger and Earl Metzger, Albert Bryant and James Bryant, James Tootle and Ward Peck.

LONDON.—A complete rest of three months has been prescribed for the Archbishop of Canterbury by his physicians. They declared that the archbishop was suffering from overwork and needed immediate relaxation from official duties.

He Takes Command Of Brooklyn Army Base

Colonel Robert C. Humber has recently been designated commanding officer of the Army Base, Brooklyn, N. Y., to succeed Colonel Howard L. Leubach, who has been transferred to Texas. Colonel Humber has been stationed for several years at Governor's Island, New York, in his capacity as inspector of the Second Corps Area.

NATIONS COUNCIL TO PROBE CHINA

GENEVA.—The League of Nations Council, meeting in its 62nd session here, decided today to grant China its requested advisory aid in regards to financial rehabilitation.

The council authorized Sir Arthur Salter, the League's economic expert, to visit Nanking for the purpose of conferring with Chinese government and financial leaders and to make a study of the country's monetary problems.

Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson of Britain presided at the council session.

Chairman Lyall of the anti-narcotic board, appearing before the council, warned it that traffic in drugs in various countries may soon necessitate wholesale investigation by the League.

"The League may soon be obliged to investigate some countries because present efforts to halt drug traffic are like a paste-board dam against floodwaters," he stated. "Seizures now comprise hundreds of pounds whereas formerly only a few ounces were taken. But even these large seizures only skim the real amount of dope traffic."

PERTH, West Australia.—The reported discovery of a 94 pound gold nugget at Larkinville has started a rush from various mining centers for the scene of the gold find. The nugget, it was stated, was found 18 inches below the surface.

EXPLAINS VALUE OF WHEAT IN RATIOMS

Proving an excellent substitute for corn in the hog ration, wheat may be fed with profit as long as its price stays near its present level and does not cost more than 10 to 12 cents more per bushel than corn, states J. W. Wuichet, specialist in swine at Ohio State University.

As a feed for hogs, wheat is worth about six to eight per cent more than the same weight of shelled corn and may be substituted entirely for corn in the ration, according to Wuichet. In fact, some tests show that greater returns are obtained by feeding wheat alone with some good protein supplement than by mixing large amounts of corn in the ration.

To get the most out of wheat, Wuichet believes that it is best ground or crushed, preferably the latter, as grinding fine does not improve the digestibility and only adds to the cost. Soaking wheat improves it about one per cent, but grinding adds about 16 per cent to its value.

As wheat contains more protein than does corn, less protein is necessary to balance it. Corn, he says, requires about 10 per cent tankage to balance it and wheat requires about eight per cent. So by feeding wheat good results may be obtained although less tankage and other high protein feeds are used.

Hog raisers, Wuichet points out, will no doubt be interested in hearing the talks during Farmers' Week at the state university, Feb. 2 to 6, on recent developments in

"NOW I EAT WHAT I LIKE," POPULAR WOMAN DECLARES

One after another, men and women all over this part of the country are coming right out in public to tell others about this simple method to end indigestion, and the gas, nausea, heartburn, headaches, etc., it cures.

Just the other day, Mrs. C. H. Brown, popular mother of three, who lives at 1407 E. 88th St., Cleveland, Ohio, enthusiastically declared: "At last I have found real relief for indigestion! I eat what I like now without fear of that old, heavy feeling of stuffiness or of headaches and nervousness."

"I suffered with indigestion for eight years; tried all sorts of medicines and treatments without success. But the first few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin convinced me it was the thing I needed. The stuffy feeling, headaches and nervousness after meals just disappeared. I am sure grateful to our doctor who got me started on it."

Pape's Diapepsin is perfectly harmless; will not form any habit. Get a box from your druggist; and next time something disagrees, chew one of the candy-like tablets. See how the burning or pain disappears! If you wish to try them before buying, write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., for a FREE sample box.

Should The Children Eat It?

Parents, particularly mothers, are paying a lot of attention to children's diet these days. For it is far more economical and pleasant to keep a child well by feeding him correctly than by nursing and doctoring him back to health.

Of course the doctor should be consulted regarding what a child should eat and what he should not eat. But do you realize that the leading manufactures of food now seek the advice and approval of the leading nutritional authorities in the country, relative to the claims they make for their products in their advertising?

In other words, food advertisements are reliable sources of information regarding diet. They are based upon the results of the latest approved scientific discoveries about vitamins, minerals and roughage, in relation to vigorous bodies, clear complexions, sound teeth and properly regulated systems.

So read these advertisements carefully. Consult your doctor about them. Very often the advertiser invites you to do this because he has asked authorities, whom your doctor respects, about those advertisements first.

More Such Men Needed

ENGLAND—America, also—needs more men like Mr. Stanley Baldwin, former prime minister of Great Britain and leader of the Conservative party in England. Such a man Shakespeare had in mind when he wrote in "Hamlet" that "to be honest in this world goes, is the one man picked out of ten thousand."

After the war he secretly gave to the British treasury 20 per cent. of his fortune because the iron industry of his family had profited handsomely of war profits. Did any American "war profiteers" do as much? None! Instead they are still suing the government for the return of taxes paid on war profits.

But the magnanimity and virtue of this unusual Britisher did not stop there. His wealth consists, or rather consisted, of shares in the forges and foundries built by his ancestor. Recently they have fallen in value from $15 a share to 40 cents. He saw them falling, knew whether they were bound but refused to sell. His reason—

"When you have an old name in business, against which nothing has ever been said; when you know the public has come in to the business on the strength of that name, it is an impossibility to throw your shares on the market when you know that if all human probability the loss will fall on them, not on you."

How many tycoons on Wall Street were motivated by the same ideals and idea of integrity and family honor in that "Black October" and in the subsequent securities deflation? If there was one he has succeeded in keeping it a secret.

Business and civilization need more such men, but as long as honesty and honor treat men as shabbily as they have treated Stanley Baldwin that need will go unfulfilled.

Saving the Home

SCIENCE has badly shaken the home; science may yet come to its rescue. What the steam engine took away the radio cycle and radio beam may in part restore. Stream brought in the industrial revolution and the factory, occupations moved out of the home, women became economically independent, children were made self-supporting at the age of 16, the entire complex of force working for the disintegration of the home was set in motion.

Having acquired the habit of going outside the home for gainful occupation, the industrialized world naturally fell into the habit of going outside the home for its recreations. Radio has reversed the process.

Radio brings recreation back into the family circle. Dance music and opera have arrived. Baseball and football and prizefights are being enjoyed by millions within the home. Broadcast movies and television will almost complete the process.

In the rural districts it is said that the films and radio have slackened the drift to the theater, the opera house, the dance hall and the night club.

Within 10 years the home is promised television. The engineers had better hurry, if the rescue of the home is a conscious purpose with them. In 10 years there may be very little home to salvage. Already it is down to a couple of rooms and a bath.

Price of Bread

A SUBCOMMITTEE of the senate is studying the relation of bread prices to wheat prices with the idea of seeing that the ultimate consumer receive the benefit of the low wheat level. It is a widely entertained notion that the fall in the price of wheat has not been reflected in the price of bread.

If the millers and bakers are receiving a fair profit when wheat prices are up, any fall in the price of wheat should be passed on to the bread buyer. But when that saving reaches the consumer it has neared the vanishing point, for a fraction of the cost of a loaf of bread.

Bakers who have cut their product one cent a loaf to give their customers advantage of the low price wheat claim that they are taking a loss of a half-cent a loaf because between the wheat high and low of recent years there is a difference of but one-half cent when it reaches bread.

UNCLE SAM: HEY! QUIT LOOKING OUT THE WINDOW AND RUSH THOSE ORDERS

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

NANCY HOLLENBECK IN LOVE WITH HANDSOME MAT TULLY

CHAPTER I

THE boy and the girl walked close together up the grassy path to the house. The little garden, weedy and overgrown in the daytime, was full of moonlight and dappled shadow, of whispering leaves and dense, spicy smelling shrubs crowding the crooked, narrow path.

Not seventy feet from the street where his car was parked, to the house where behind deeply drawn shades, her family was "waiting up." Not seventy feet, and it had taken them half an hour to reach the bird-path half way up.

"Wonderful night," he mumbled, suddenly conscious that he ought to say something. "Wonderful night. Too nice to go in."

"Yes," she sighed, "but it's late. It must be awfully late."

He fumbled for his watch, opened it, and returned it to his pocket without having noticed the time. She moved on slowly, pulling at the blossoms that bordered the path. The tall columbine, the yellow jasmine that was the very breath of romance itself. He followed, slower still. But no matter how they dallied, the front steps loomed just ahead.

And now they had come to the steps, and she had turned, startled and a little tremulous, to say good night. "It wish it weren't so late—I'd ask you in—"

Minutes Count

The slim little hand that had plucked at the flowers came to rest on his arm. She was faintly smiling, searching his troubled face with dark, velvety eyes.

"Just for a few minutes, please," he begged.

She shook her head. "No, I couldn't—not tonight. I'll have to run, it's so late. It's been a wonderful—" Her mouth quivered. "And I'll see you soon—"

"Tomorrow. Tomorrow night sure."

She nodded, and made a little movement, as if to slip from his detaining grasp. Their hands touched. "Well, if you won't let me come in," he began. And suddenly he was kissing her, humbly as if he could never let her go.

She found his voice first. "Good-night, Mat."

Awarded he reached for the cap he had dropped in the tangle of honeysuckle near the gray front steps. "Good-night, Nancy."

He turned and retraced his steps down the path. She waited, shivering slightly in her light dress, until she heard the sound of his motor starting. When its rumbling and snorting had died away she turned swiftly and went into the house.

They were all in the living room, the comfortable, shabby room that stretched across the front of the house. Papa, mama, and Louise, all waiting up for her, of course.

Papa lifted pudgy fingers and pinched her cheek. "Have a good time, baby?"

"Why didn't you invite the young man in?" mama asked mildly. "You could have made chocolate, and there's some of that pound cake—"

But it was Louise, as always who spoke what the family really had on its mind. "I like that Tully boy," she said in her uncompromising, matter of fact way. "He's "Wonderful night," he mumbled, suddenly conscious that he ought to say something.

different from the others. Means business. I caught the look in his eye."

"You don't miss anything, do you, darling?" Nancy countered flippantly, but her color rose. She was suddenly conscious of her tumbled hair, of the tell-tale wrinkles in her brief, corn-colored frock. She didn't want Lou to know he had been kissing her. Not that she was ordinarily shy or secretive about such things. Petting parties were common enough in their set, and she had had her share of them, goodness knows. But this was different. She wanted to keep Mat Tully all to herself—to keep him away from the family, from papa's too cordial welcomes, from mama's sly, eager questionings; from Louise's too understanding stare. That was why she had said good-bye to him in the garden though she knew perfectly well they had ordered extra cream for the chocolate, and laid the pound cake in beautiful, overlapping slices on the best Minton plate.

No Prize

"I—I think I'll go right to bed—I'm awfully tired," she decided hastily, seeing that the family was in a mood for talk.

"Yes, get your beauty sleep," Louise advised sweetly, resuming her sewing. "I'll get this finished somehow. You'll want it to impress the Tully person tomorrow night." She lifted the long, billowing skirt of the pale organdy she was working on, trying to catch her sister's averted gaze. "Men always love light blue. He'll go down like a ton of bricks... and after all, he's worth struggling for—if he has any money."

"LOUISE!" Mrs. Hollenbeck rasped. "Mama won't have you talking like that!"

"Well, it's the truth. Nancy might do a whole lot worse!" "LOUISE!"

Little Mr. Hollenbeck, slow to interfere in the arguments of his women folk, looked up over his spectacles, and returned to the port page.

Louise was the older Hollenbeck girl, a little sharp of nose, a little wistful already at twenty-four. She looked very tired and plain tonight, with her straight, dark hair clinging damply to her forehead and her eyes heavy with fatigue. "The way I'll look in five

Protecto-Dent Name Of New Kippy-Kit Product

After checking all names and slogans submitted during the contest, to find a name for the Kippy-Kit product, which holds a tube of paste and five tooth brushes, PROTECTO-DENT, with the slogan "Your mouth is only as clean as your tooth brush" was chosen. Many names and good slogans were received during this contest and this name was finally chosen since this name and slogan more accurately described the article and its use. The name and slogan selected for the new product was submitted by Dr. G. D. Phillips.

Another name "A Family Affair" was chosen and will be used on another new article soon to be placed on the market. This name was submitted by Mrs. John Hitt, 227 N. Scioto-st.

A large number of the names received had Kit as a part of the name and while Kit has been used with many of the articles now manufactured by the Kippy-Kit Co. the new article can not properly be classed as a Kit as it is a permanent fixture after once installed. Such names as "Tooth-Kit," "Kleanly-Kit," "Germ Chaser Kit," "Ready Tooth Kit," "Sanitary Kit," "Klean-Kit," "San-Tu-Rak," "Healthy-Kit," "Brush-A-Way Kit," "Tidee Kabinet," "Lavodent Case," were some of the names submitted. With the large number of names and slogans received the Kippy-Kit Co. were well pleased with the interest shown by the readers of The Herald in helping them name this product.

Dr. Phillips, whose name and slogan was selected will receive a check for $20 and Mrs. Hitt, whose name was chosen for another article will also receive a check for $16.

AT THE GRAND

During the filming of "Captain Thunder," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone comedy of love and adventure in Old Mexico, now at the Grand Theatre, in which Varconi portrays the title role, he is directed to devour an apple, which is simple enough but that scene had to be taken seven times before Director Alan Crosland placed his okay on it.

Fay Wray enacts the feminine lead in "Captain Thunder" and Don Alvarado plays her youthful lover. The cast includes such well known stage and screen players as Charles Judels, Robert Elliott, Natalie Moorhead, Bert Roach, Frank Campana, Robert Emmett Keane and John Sainpolis.

AT THE CLIFTONA

They have a saying in Hollywood that a good turn done an actor always comes back to the donor sooner or later, with interest.

A few years ago Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. gave Billie Dove, then practically unknown, her big chance by making her his leading woman in "The Black Pirate," because she photographed beautifully in color.

In a round-about way, Miss Dove repaid the favor recently. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., plays leading man in her latest First National and Vitaphone starring vehicle, "One Night at Susie's," coming to the Cliftona Theatre Wednesday.

The powerful role played by Young Fairbanks in the picture is said to be his best and insures him starring honors in the near future. "Doug" Senior, already proud of his son, will have occasion to be even more proud then.

Helen Ware, John Loder, Tully Marshall and James Crane have the principal roles in the picture, which was based on the story by Frederick Hazitt Brennan, a magazine serial. John Francis Dillon directed the picture.

When the Thyroid Gland Is Below Par

—Loss of "Pep," Unexplained Aches Result

The Condition Known as "Hypothyroidism" May Be the Cause of That Continued Weariness, Says Dr. Copeland, Listing Some of the Symptoms

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

TODAY I want to tell you about a condition called "Hypothyroidism." You will recall that in a recent article I told about "Hyperthyroidism," a disease commonly known as "Goitre."

Hypothyroidism differs from hyperthyroidism, in that in the former there is a deficiency in the thyroid secretions. The prefix "hypo" refers to a decrease and "hyper" to an increase.

When we speak of hypothyroidism, then, we imply that there is an increase in the secretions of the thyroid gland. This increase usually manifests itself by enlargement of the thyroid gland, which you will recall is located in the front of the neck, adjoining the Adam's apple. There is something in this, for they do not feel as well as they should. Excessive weariness and fatigue following any exertion are the chief complaints, in spite of rest and vacation. The weariness and fatigue return. There is a loss of the "pep" these individuals formerly possessed. Other signs are confusing, but they must be considered. There may be underweight or overweight. It is not uncommon to observe constipation, susceptibility to colds and infections, vague aches and pains, and, at times, a general feeling of soreness in the abdomen.

This condition of hypothyroidism is often baffling, and can only be accurately determined by means of a special test. By its application the doctor can determine whether our bodies are working at a slow or rapid rate. To borrow terms from our golfing friends, it will be determined whether we are below par, above par, or at par.

In hypothyroidism the score is above par. In the condition that I am talking about today, hypothyroidism, it is below par. No diagnosis of hypothyroidism can be made unless there is definitely demonstrated what the doctors call a lowered "basal metabolic rate."

Your physician will be happy to enlighten you about this fascinating and important subject. If he thinks it necessary he will advise this test for you.

These conditions of hypo- and hyperthyroidism are of particular importance for those who live in the Great Lakes Basin. In this region diseases of the thyroid gland are most common.

The disease under discussion rapidly responds to treatment, and rarely, if ever, requires operation. It should not be overlooked, because if neglected it does damage to the body.

Answers to Health Queries

MRS. P. BELL. Q.—How can I gain weight?

A.—Proper dieting and deep breathing are the secret. You should eat nourishing foods and have plenty of sleep and rest.

A READER. Q.—What can be done for bags or puffs under the eyes?

A.—Constipation, dissipation, lack of sleep or a heart or kidney condition may be responsible. It would be advisable to consult your physician for an examination.

THANK YOU (M. M.). Q.—What should a girl weigh who is 18 years old and 5 ft. 7 in. tall?

A.—Can tuberculosis be contracted through kissing on the mouth?

A.—For her age and height she should weigh about 125 pounds. When I give you these figures, you will understand I am speaking about the average person. If these show you are a few pounds under or a few pounds above this weight, you must not panic. The fact has any particular significance. The figures, as I have said, indicate merely the average weight as discovered by the examination of a large number of persons.

PLEASE. Q.—What is somnambulism?

A.—The scientific name for sleepwalking is somnambulism.

Q.—Gout is a disease associated with rich food—overeating, indulging in sweet wines and malt beverages, and especially because the tendency to gout is inherited due to the fact that it is called a rich man's ailment. It is probably due to an excessive amount of uric acid in the blood.

A.—For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope, and repeat your question.

That advertising is a service to the public. It is the kind of service that is of assistance. CHILDREN CRY FOR IT!

FIVE million modern mothers will tell you that children DO cry for Fletcher's Castoria. For mothers always give a few drops of this pure vegetable preparation when a child has any of the symptoms that tell of sluggish bowels, colic, or other upsets. When tiny tongues are coated and breath is bad. When a child is restless, irritable. Always soothing and comforting to an infant—yet it is effective for children in their teens. You never have to coax children to take Castoria; they love its taste. Be ready for the next case of sour stomach, constipation, or other need for Castoria! When buying look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on wrapper.

Let's Face The Future

—the Past is History

Many have witnessed the passing of 1930 with a sigh of relief. It was a most trying year for the whole world. But—It has gone—we're through with it! Let us now resolve to shake off its atmosphere of depression and discouragement—wipe any fog of despair and hopelessness from our mental vision—lift our heads, face the facts and go forward into the dawn of this Year filled with the undaunted courage and unalterable determination that is our heritage and has made this the greatest nation of which history has any record.

True, the millenium has not arrived. But, basically and fundamentally, conditions are sound; industrially, socially and financially. It is only necessary that we adjust our thinking and calmly realize that our dreams of effortless ease and accumulations not earned by hard work and self-denial were merely dreams—to be laughed at, now that we are awake and on the job again.

We can readjust our budgets to fit our earning capacity and cheerfully get back to hard work, intelligent economy and sane living. To assist in the accomplishment of these constructive ends, use Circle City Dairy butter milk in baking—it adds a most delicious taste, also Doctors recommend it as a health drink.

WETS INVITED TO SPEAK TO OHIO SENATE

Two Minor Anti-Prohibition Measures Fail in Senate Tuesday.

BY H. EARL WILSON.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—Oratory and polite invectives which yesterday could not prevent the defeat of two minor anti-prohibition measures in the state Senate today promised to continue almost immediately as a part of the propagandistic program of ambitious and determined wets.

Declaring that the two skirmishes which they lost yesterday were not serious enough to bring out the true opinion of the Senate, Senators Joseph N. Ackerman (R) of Cleveland and William J. Hervey (D) of Monroeville, prepared to launch into a new attack on prohibition at the first opportunity.

Ackerman will create one opportunity if it does not present itself. He already has invited nationally prominent wets to appear before his Senate temperance committee for questioning and is trying to arrange for satisfactory rates for the hearing. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney, have agreed to appear.

His bill to force revision of the Temperance Day law having been killed by his own committee yesterday when it revealed an unexpected opposition to his plan, Ackerman was ready to submit for its consideration of one of his other anti-prohibition bills. He has several, assuring no immediate scarcity of problems for study.

True colors of the Senate on the wet-and-dry question have not yet been revealed, Hervey and Ackerman agreed.

After his half-hour attack on the prohibition principle in the Senate yesterday, in his attempt to block appropriation of funds for the state prohibition department for the next six months, Hervey gave up a chance to embarrass Senators by insisting upon a roll-call vote.

When a second to his motion for a roll call did not immediately appear, Hervey withdrew his request.

A good many senators from wet districts would have been embarrassed if they had refused to vote against the appropriation—really a routine expenditure which might have had to be met from other funds anyway—Hervey believed today.

Hervey's long address on history of alcohol, in which he traced it from Biblical times to his prediction of election results in 1932, was the first example of oratory in either house this session.

Alcohol, evident in Bible times, has come down to the prohibition era and "it will be with us until the world's end," the senator said. Debate over its use had started as early as Timothy's time when he wrote "Drink no longer water, CLEVELAND—Damage resulting from a raging fire which completely destroyed the five-story building housing the Strauss Fixture & Supply Company here, was estimated at $150,000 today.

Firemen, called on a 5-5 alarm, fought the blaze for nearly three hours before they managed to bring the flames under control. The building was located in the downtown section of the city, four blocks from the public square.

The fire is believed to have started on the second floor of the structure and had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Eighteen lines of hose were played on the burning building in an effort to keep the blaze from spreading.

Ted Lewis Again Lauded By Metropolitan Paper

Greeted wherever he goes as one of the masters of music, Ted Lewis, Circleville's favorite son, again wins plaudits of metropolitan news writers, this time in Philadelphia.

Following is a clipping from an eastern newspaper:

An outstanding example of what ambition, study and hard work can do for a poor boy, is Ted Lewis, now a noted exponent of jazz and syncopated rhythm, who, with his famous band, is a special feature of the big stage show on the Mastbaum Theatre. Ted Lewis was a little chap of nine in his native town of Circleville, Ohio, when he began taking lessons on the piccolo and joined a boys' band that played anywhere and anytime opportunity offered. Those first lessons were from an instructor. Once he had mastered the piccolo, instructors for young Ted ceased. He became his own teacher. He took up one instrument after another, specializing on the clarinet and saxophone.

About this time, jazz tunes were being heard. Ted became interested in the new form of music, sensed its future popularity and applied himself to it. Ted kept climbing the ladder of fame. Today, he is one of the best-known and best-liked band leaders in the world. Ted is capable of taking the place of any member of his famous band.

Ted is not only a popular musician. He also sings in a manner that is all his own. Versatility is Ted Lewis' middle name. He has been a star of stage musical comedies and revues. He is one of Broadway's great luminaries. He will be remembered for his appearance in the talking and singing picture, "Is Everybody Happy?" based on his famous greeting to audiences, Ted Lewis is a whole show in himself. He has a marvelous personality, and he possesses ability that is distinctly his own. There is no one just like him. Associated with the fame of Ted Lewis, is the fame of his high hat that is always in evidence at some portion of his programmes. Because of his individual method of singing a song, putting new meaning into it that reaches down to the heart of his hearers. Ted is something referred to as "The High-hatted Tragedian of Jazz."

SPORTSMEN HEAR LEAGUE PRESIDENT

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—There are two mortal enemies of proper conservation and production, game and wild life in Ohio—Democrats and Republicans," I. S. Myers of Akron, president, told delegates at the opening session of the League of Ohio Sportsmen convention here today.

Declaring that out of 14 fish hatcheries in the state only three seem to justify overhead in production, Myers urged the delegates to adopt a program to "get this thing in the hands of conservationists and away from politics," which he blamed as responsible for high cost of production.

The Ford Victoria

A NEW FORD BODY TYPE OF DISTINCTIVE BEAUTY

The newest, latest addition to the wide variety of Ford body types is the distinguished Victoria. It marks a new degree of beauty and of value in a low-price car.

The striking lines of the Ford Victoria are especially apparent in the graceful sweep of the straight, lower top, the slanting windshield and the curving bustle back, with the spare wheel set in a convenient angle. There is a suggestion of continental design also in the shape and size of the side windows and the intimate, four-passenger interior arrangement.

The comfortable, deeply cushioned seats are upholstered in luxurious mohair or fashionable Bedford cord, optional with the plush leather. Appointments and hardware reflect the manner of a custom-built car.

Another appreciated feature of the new Ford Victoria is a choice of attractive body colors. They complement its fresh new lines and contour and help to give it distinctive appearance on every highway.
